

"OMNIA VINCIT"—LABOR—CONQUERS EVERYTHING!

Therefore we labor for the good that we do the many thousands that are seeking the place where one dollar well spent is equal to two carelessly shopped with. It cannot be denied we have the goods and are positive we have the right prices, therefore we are getting the trade. We always try to inform every customer exactly what they are buying. Therefore confidence on the part of the consumer encourages us to such an extent that we leave no stone unturned to get anything and everything to please them all. We have customers from the East that answer every call; Customers from the West that trade from spring to fall; Customers from the North that buy so cheap, they say, And those that visit from the South do never miss a day. So you can see very plain that no matter where you do business, if you are up to the times, and willing to take the nimble sixpence, you are bound to sell your goods.

COME EVERYBODY, AS WE SURELY HAVE SOME DECORATION BARGAINS.

What Do You Think of This?

Another case of those White Brilliantines for dresses and aprons, 4 1/2c; worth 7c; short ends.
Another case of 3/4 Satine, in short ends, 5 1/2c.
1 case of Plain 3/4 Satine, in cream, pink, light blue, ecru, navy, brown, and black, 7c.
1,100 yards of India Linen, 40 inches wide, short ends, 9c.
700 yards of Navy Blue Satin Foulards, short ends, 10c. These are handsome goods and very scarce.
850 yards of Lonsdown Cambric, in short ends, 7 1/2c. A very cheap cloth and one yard wide.

5 Splendid Articles at 12 1/2c per yard.

Another lot of Satin Berber Brocade, short ends. This lot we sell at 12 1/2c in cream and drab.
2,500 yards of Albatross, in lengths of 10 to 25 yards, just in, 12 1/2c. There can be no shade missing, as we have 20 different shades.
3,000 yards of Tufted Zephyr Cloth, worsted figured wash goods, 12 1/2c. A splendid combination of colors. Cost of importation of these goods was 14c by the case.
25 pieces of New Satine in cream, ecru, lilac, light blue, and pink, also figured and dots. This is what everybody is looking for—12 1/2c.
50 pieces of new shade 6-4 Cashmere and Debigue, 12 1/2c.

Another Cut in Corsets.

Every Pair Sold at One Price and Marked in Plain Figures.

Our Challenge Corset sells for 25c; this week, 21c.
Our 3pc Prize, in white and colors, this week, 33c.
Our 5pc Leader, in white and colors, this week, 41c.
Our Circassia, in white and colors, sells for 75c; this week, 63c.
Our Automatic, in white only, sells for 89c; this week, 71c.
Dr. Reed's Celebrated Sanitary Corset sells for $1.15; this week, 97c.

Mitts and Gloves.

25 dozen Black Silk Mitts, per pair, 5c.
Balance of our Lace Gloves, 4c.
18 dozen Brilliant Lisle, 3 elastic, all large sizes, 12c.
12 dozen Brilliant Lisle, 2 elastic, excellent shades, all sizes, 15c.
10 dozen 3 button Brilliant Lisle, full fashioned, all sizes, 21c.
30 dozen English Lisle, 10-button button, full fashioned, all sizes, 25c.
This glove costs more than double the money to import.
20 dozen Black and Colored Silk Mitts, splendid quality, 25c.
10 dozen of fine Silk Taffeta, in black and colored, 39c.

THESE PRICES ARE FOR THIS WEEK ONLY.

Every pair of our Kid Gloves, button, hook, and mousquetaire, 89c.

JERSEYS. JERSEYS. JERSEYS.

1 lot of Black Jerseys, sizes 32 to 42, 69c.
1 lot of Black Jerseys, fine stockinet, sizes 32 to 42, 79c.
1 lot of Black Jerseys, pleated back, sizes 32 to 42, fine stockinet, $1.15.
1 lot of Black Jerseys, braided, sizes 32 to 42, fine stockinet, $1.20.
1 lot of Black Jerseys, tailor-made back, sizes 32 to 42, fine stockinet, $1.49.
200 more White Honeycomb Spreads, 43c.
10 gross Percal Flat Scarfs, 5 for 10c.
100 dozen more Linen Collars, in standing and turn-down, 5c.
25 dozen more Linen Cuffs, 15c.
18 dozen Infants' Swiss Caps, 10c.
1 lot of ten styles of New Matting at 15c.

A Splendid Line of New Millinery.

In Flowers, Feathers, Pompons, Ribbons, Scarfs, Ornaments, Milan Hats, Chip Hats, Braid Hats, Pearl Straw, Rough and Ready, Cape Mays, Canton in Black, White, and Colors.

Also, a nice line of Children's Trimmed Hats.

We can save you 25 per cent. over all competitors if you will give us a trial.

Boot and Shoe Department.

Infants' Button Shoes at 13, 20, 25, 30, and 37c.
Children's Goat Spring Heel at 57c.
Children's Heeled Shoes, 8 to 11, at 69c.
Children's Newport Tie and Button, at 59c.
Youths' Base Ball Shoes at 71c.
Misses' Cur Kid Button Boots, 11 to 2, worked holes at 98c.
Ladies' Goat Button, flexible sole, at $1.07.
Ladies' Newport and Jersey Lily Ties at 69c.
Men's Low Shoes at 97c.
Men's Hook Balbriggans, London toe, machine sewed, at 83c.
If you want to see a line of Low Shoes and Slippers equal to any in the District you must see ours.

A. KAUFMAN'S DOUBLE COMBINATION STORE!

GOODS DELIVERED TO ALL PARTS OF THE CITY.

1241-1243 ELEVENTH STREET SOUTHEAST.

NUISANCE AT THE NAVY YARD.

The Air Polluted by Foul Sewer Accumulations, Soap Factories, and Other Sundry Smelling Places.

Unless immediate action is taken by the District commissioners in correcting the unsanitary condition of the terminus of the Sixth street sewer, just east of the navy yard, the prospects for comfort and good health on the navy yard during the coming hot term will be exceedingly small. The outlet of the sewer is 150 feet from the channel of the Eastern branch, and for this distance deposits of sewer filth have collected for a long time, until now a bank is formed, which, at low tide, is above water, and which gives off foul miasmic odors. The navy yard dredge has been set to work removing this deposit, and has now cleared the way for about seventy-five feet. This will only partially remedy the evil, and for its permanent correction on Commodore Semmes, commandant of the navy yard, addressed a letter to the commissioners on the 23d instant, requesting that the sewer be extended as far as the channel, to which no reply has yet been received. The residents on the navy yard have suffered for a long time from the stench coming from the soap factory at Buzzard's point, a few hundred yards below, in the immediate vicinity of which are located four slaughter houses, all of which add their quota to the trials of the olfactory nerves and health of everybody on the navy yard when the wind is blowing from the east or south.

GAULT'S ICE CREAM, $1.50 per gallon.

The Arsenal Evacuation.

The baggage of the troops now stationed at the Washington barracks was moved yesterday, and to-day or Sunday the troops under Gen. Ayres will begin to leave for their new stations in the south. The troops will leave in four detachments, the first going to-day or Sunday, the second on the day following, and the third on Tuesday. The last detachment, the light battery, will remain at the barracks and take care of the horses and property until the new light battery arrives to relieve them. Batteries B and H will go from this city to Pensacola, and will form the first detachment to leave. Batteries C and D will go from here to Mount Vernon barracks, Alabama. Battery G, 6th artillery, from Newport, Ky., and L from Fort McHenry with the staff and band will go to San Augustine, Fla., where Gen. Ayres will have his regimental headquarters. The batteries at Fort McHenry will move to their new stations next week. The batteries from the 2d artillery, which are to be stationed here, are expected to begin to arrive next week. There will be six batteries stationed here.

Skin Diseases—"Swampy's Ointment." "Swampy's Ointment" cures Tetter, Salt Rheum, Eruptions, Sores, Etc., and all itchy skin eruptions, no matter how obstinate or long standing.

A Good Title to the Certificate.

Annie G. Hume, residuary legatee of the estate of A. H. Pickrel, deceased, sometime since filed a bill in equity against Edward Temple, executor of the estate of William Guntton, asking that the executor be directed to turn over to the surviving executrix of the Pickrel estate a certificate of stock for $2,000 held by him in lien of indorsements of Pickrel on a note of Thomas Hume, on the ground that Hume, who was one of the executors of Pickrel, by making the deposit misapplied the assets of his testator's estate, he being co-executor of Pickrel, and that Guntton, from the nature of the transaction, was charged with notice. The equity court passed a decree declaring good title to the certificates in the Guntton executors, and yesterday the court in general term affirmed this decree.

KEEP ALWAYS IN YOUR HOUSE A BOTTLE OF ANGER'S PILLS, the world-renowned and appetizer, of exquisite flavor, and a bottle of ANGER'S PILLS, the finest and most reliable laxative, both manufactured only by Dr. J. C. Anger & Sons, and sold only by J. C. Anger.

THE EISEMAN ATTACHMENTS.

An Interesting Decision Defining the Debtor's Right to Reply from the Marshal.

The court in general term yesterday acted on the last of the Eisenman cases which have been carried up to it. After the quashing of the attachments he demanded from the United States marshal the return of his property, which, being refused, was recovered by replevin. This suit, on motion in behalf of the marshal made in the circuit court, was quashed by Justice Hagner, and Eisenman directed to restore the property to the custody of the marshal on the ground that replevin does not lie for property in the custody of the law, and because the order quashing the attachment provided for a stay of execution for twenty days, within which the creditors could give bond on appeal. The general term reversed the judgment below, holding that, inasmuch as the marshal had been directed to return the property and refused to do so, Eisenman had the right to replevy; that the order quashing the attachments did not provide for a stay, but went into effect from the time they were passed and the giving of the appeal bonds by the creditor after the replevin did not affect anything. Messrs. Leon Tobriner and A. C. Bradley appeared for Eisenman, and Messrs. N. H. Miller and C. C. Cole for the marshal.

Our Polluted Water Supply.

Whether the commissioners are at fault in the matter of polluted drinking water or not is of very little importance so long as the fact remains. The real question is, How shall we escape the effects of what has already been done? If the authorities are not remiss in their duty they will at once stop further contamination of the reservoirs, but the impurities already in the water will be a cause of anxiety for some time to come. Probably impure drinking water has been as much the cause of malaria in this city as the so severely condemned Potomac flats. However, it is a well-known fact that in the endeavor to counteract the effects of malaria many of our people have weakened their nervous system by the excessive use of quinine. We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to a pure and effective medicine advertised in another column. Allen's Gold Coin Remedy is made from pure herbs, and contains no quinine or other injurious substance. We are satisfied from the testimonials of those who have been cured by it that it is the best and safest regulator for the system in use, as well as a positive cure for chills, so common among us.

More Lawyers Admitted to Practice.

Messrs. Edward C. Manners, Benjamin L. Fairchild, and Charles C. Bennett were yesterday admitted to the bar of this District upon the recommendation of the examining committee. The application of James F. Houle, student for admission, was referred to the committee.

Pure Blood and Strong Nerves.

At 19 years of age I was afflicted with fearful pains in my head, eyes, shoulders, and right side, and became so nervous that I could not sleep. I tried a number of physicians, whose medicines only brought temporary relief. They called it indigestion, and I was told to eat less and sleep more. I was in poor health all my life, I thought death would be a relief. Thus, for twelve years, I suffered. My only solace was in morphine. For two years I never slept day or night without morphine, so intense was my suffering. During the spring of last I was induced to try Swampy's Specific. It acted like a charm. It was a God-send to me. After using it that season, I was completely restored. I have no more blood, strong nerves, sound mind, and good health. I am now 25 years of age and am in perfect health as any lady in Atlanta. Ten thousand thanks do not express my gratitude for finding this wonderful medicine. I commend it to suffering humanity.

ANGEL'S PILLS, Atlanta, Ga.
Jan. 1, 1886.
Treatise on blood and skin diseases mailed free.
THE SWAMPY SPECIFIC COMPANY,
Dravner 3, Atlanta, Ga., and 157 West Twenty-third street, New York.

THE COURT RECORD.

Business Transacted by the District Judiciary Yesterday.

Court in General Term—Justice Cox, James, and Merrick.—Eisenman vs. McMichael, United States marshal; judgment below reversed. Hume vs. Temple; decree below affirmed. Zinner vs. Zinner; printing dispensed with. Schuettgen Park Company vs. Schmidt and McCann; on hearing.
Circuit Court—Justice Cox.—United States vs. Hunter; defendant overruled as to second plea of third count and second plea of fourth count and leave given to reply. McLaughlin vs. Seagr; death of defendant suggested.
Justice Cox.—Hagner vs. Sebastian vs. Sebastian; order that alimony to the amount of $80 be paid within five days. Cull vs. Bayne; restraining order discharged and injunction denied.
Criminal Court—Justice MacArthur.—John W. Drew; presenting false vouchers; argument in progress.
Probate Court—Justice Hagner.—Estate of John McClelland; letters of administration granted to John McClelland, Jr., with bond fixed at $10,000. Estate of Mary J. Gilmore; petition of F. L. Moore to be appointed administrator and renunciation of Elodie S. Gilmore; order for rule on Mary J. Gilmore requiring her to show. Estate of James Kennedy; order granting letters to Elizabeth H. Duhamel, with a bond of $1,000. Estate of Peter Trexler; order appointing J. J. Waters special guardian to the orphan children, with bond of $1,000. Estate of Mary Buckley; petition of Phoebe F. Livermore for letters of administration filed. In re James W. Somers, guardian; order appointing him special guardian to Mary Irvin and John Newton Wright, with a bond of $1,000. Estate of Antoine E. Becher; order appointing Elizabeth Becher, with bond of $1,000. Estate of Thomas I. Middleton; letters granted to B. F. Leighton, and bond fixed at $1,000.

SALVATION OIL.

Is a genuine preparation for the cure of all pain. Nothing like it. Price 25 cents.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses have been issued: Edward O'Hare and Louise Georges, John Lee and Nancy Diggs, both of Prince George's county, Md.; L. A. Frisbie, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Bessie Waites, of this city.

ST. JACOB'S OIL.

Relieves Cough, Red Star Cough Cure removes cough. What greater blessing could there be than this?

Beats West for Record Yesterday.

7th st. west side, bet. Q and H sts. n. w., pt. 10, lot 11, bet. 21st and 22d, owned by Benjamin Salmon, $18,000.
Front on 20th st. alley, in rear E. st., north side, lot 10, bet. 10th and 11th, owned by Wm. D. Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, William D. Allen to Martha M. Reed, $14,622.
10th st. east side, bet. D and E sts. n. w., lots 9 and 10, Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, Martha M. Reed to William D. Allen, $1,100.
8th st. east side, next to the corner of Boundary st. n. w., lot 15, John Sherman's sub. of sq. 416, John Sherman et al., trustees, to Enoch Crew, $1,300.
8th st. east side, bet. L and M sts. n. w., pt. 10, lot 11, bet. 21st and 22d, owned by Benjamin Salmon, $18,000.
Front on 20th st. alley, in rear E. st., north side, lot 10, bet. 10th and 11th, owned by Wm. D. Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, William D. Allen to Martha M. Reed, $14,622.
10th st. east side, bet. D and E sts. n. w., lots 9 and 10, Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, Martha M. Reed to William D. Allen, $1,100.
8th st. east side, next to the corner of Boundary st. n. w., lot 15, John Sherman's sub. of sq. 416, John Sherman et al., trustees, to Enoch Crew, $1,300.
8th st. east side, bet. L and M sts. n. w., pt. 10, lot 11, bet. 21st and 22d, owned by Benjamin Salmon, $18,000.
Front on 20th st. alley, in rear E. st., north side, lot 10, bet. 10th and 11th, owned by Wm. D. Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, William D. Allen to Martha M. Reed, $14,622.
10th st. east side, bet. D and E sts. n. w., lots 9 and 10, Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, Martha M. Reed to William D. Allen, $1,100.
8th st. east side, next to the corner of Boundary st. n. w., lot 15, John Sherman's sub. of sq. 416, John Sherman et al., trustees, to Enoch Crew, $1,300.
8th st. east side, bet. L and M sts. n. w., pt. 10, lot 11, bet. 21st and 22d, owned by Benjamin Salmon, $18,000.
Front on 20th st. alley, in rear E. st., north side, lot 10, bet. 10th and 11th, owned by Wm. D. Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, William D. Allen to Martha M. Reed, $14,622.
10th st. east side, bet. D and E sts. n. w., lots 9 and 10, Wylie's sub. of sq. 387, Martha M. Reed to William D. Allen, $1,100.
8th st. east side, next to the corner of Boundary st. n. w., lot 15, John Sherman's sub. of sq. 416, John Sherman et al., trustees, to Enoch Crew, $1,300.

TAILORS.

FINE TAILORING.
L. K. DEVENDORF.
SPRING AND SUMMER STOCK COMPLETE.
519 Pa. ave. N. W.

H. D. BARR,

Importer and Tailor,
1111 Penna. Ave.

Spring Goods! Spring Goods!

MY OWN IMPORTATIONS OF SUITINGS, OVERCOATS, AND TROUSERS—RECEIVED AND OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

Gentlemen who know what good clothes are will leave their orders at the Leading Tailoring Establishment of Washington.

H. D. BARR,
1111 PENNA. AVENUE.

S. S. S.

I am an old man. For 25 years I suffered with ulcers on my right leg as the result of typhoid fever. Amputation was suggested as the only means of preserving life. The doctors could do nothing for me, and thought I must die.
For three years I never had a shower. Swift's Specific has made a permanent cure and added
ten years to my life.
JAS. L. PIERCE,
Hill County, Ga.

I have taken Swift's Specific for blood poison contracted at a medical college at a dissection, while I was a student there. I am grateful to say that it gave me a speedy and thorough cure
after my parents had spent hundreds of dollars for treatment.

AUGUSTUS WENDEL, M. D.,
Newark, N. J.

My wife from early childhood has been suffering from rheumatism. She has tried many remedies, and I must frankly say has derived more benefit from Swift's Specific than from all others
after long and faithful trial.

REV. JAS. L. PIERCE,
Oxford, Ga.

Swift's Specific is entirely vegetable. Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.,
Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga., or 157 W. 23d st., N. Y.

VIENNA OPTICIAN CO.

1504 F STREET N. W.

He Fell from the Mast.

"It's a wonder to me why sailors don't fall from the masts and yards oftener than they do."
Among the little group that heard this remark was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, oftener than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years ago."

"About two years ago," resumed Mr. Morton,
"I was at work on the mast of a vessel lying in
port. In some way I missed my footing and fell.
I may tell you I was partially broken by the fall, and I struck against the mast before reaching the deck. I might have been killed outright, and as it was I sustained a severe injury to my back."

"I got up," continued the old tar, "but after
all, a lame back is no joke to a sailor or a sailmaker either."

"I went to see," said the sailmaker, "and to
remedy that trouble was a tougher job than to
fall. Among the little group that heard this remark
was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, often-
er than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when
the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the
leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years
ago."

"About two years ago," resumed Mr. Morton,
"I was at work on the mast of a vessel lying in
port. In some way I missed my footing and fell.
I may tell you I was partially broken by the
fall, and I struck against the mast before reaching
the deck. I might have been killed outright, and as it was I sustained a severe injury to my back."

"I got up," continued the old tar, "but after
all, a lame back is no joke to a sailor or a sailmaker either."

"I went to see," said the sailmaker, "and to
remedy that trouble was a tougher job than to
fall. Among the little group that heard this remark
was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, often-
er than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when
the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the
leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years
ago."

"About two years ago," resumed Mr. Morton,
"I was at work on the mast of a vessel lying in
port. In some way I missed my footing and fell.
I may tell you I was partially broken by the
fall, and I struck against the mast before reaching
the deck. I might have been killed outright, and as it was I sustained a severe injury to my back."

"I got up," continued the old tar, "but after
all, a lame back is no joke to a sailor or a sailmaker either."

"I went to see," said the sailmaker, "and to
remedy that trouble was a tougher job than to
fall. Among the little group that heard this remark
was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, often-
er than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when
the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the
leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years
ago."

"About two years ago," resumed Mr. Morton,
"I was at work on the mast of a vessel lying in
port. In some way I missed my footing and fell.
I may tell you I was partially broken by the
fall, and I struck against the mast before reaching
the deck. I might have been killed outright, and as it was I sustained a severe injury to my back."

"I got up," continued the old tar, "but after
all, a lame back is no joke to a sailor or a sailmaker either."

"I went to see," said the sailmaker, "and to
remedy that trouble was a tougher job than to
fall. Among the little group that heard this remark
was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, often-
er than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when
the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the
leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years
ago."

"About two years ago," resumed Mr. Morton,
"I was at work on the mast of a vessel lying in
port. In some way I missed my footing and fell.
I may tell you I was partially broken by the
fall, and I struck against the mast before reaching
the deck. I might have been killed outright, and as it was I sustained a severe injury to my back."

"I got up," continued the old tar, "but after
all, a lame back is no joke to a sailor or a sailmaker either."

"I went to see," said the sailmaker, "and to
remedy that trouble was a tougher job than to
fall. Among the little group that heard this remark
was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, often-
er than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when
the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the
leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years
ago."

"About two years ago," resumed Mr. Morton,
"I was at work on the mast of a vessel lying in
port. In some way I missed my footing and fell.
I may tell you I was partially broken by the
fall, and I struck against the mast before reaching
the deck. I might have been killed outright, and as it was I sustained a severe injury to my back."

"I got up," continued the old tar, "but after
all, a lame back is no joke to a sailor or a sailmaker either."

"I went to see," said the sailmaker, "and to
remedy that trouble was a tougher job than to
fall. Among the little group that heard this remark
was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, often-
er than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when
the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the
leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years
ago."

"About two years ago," resumed Mr. Morton,
"I was at work on the mast of a vessel lying in
port. In some way I missed my footing and fell.
I may tell you I was partially broken by the
fall, and I struck against the mast before reaching
the deck. I might have been killed outright, and as it was I sustained a severe injury to my back."

"I got up," continued the old tar, "but after
all, a lame back is no joke to a sailor or a sailmaker either."

"I went to see," said the sailmaker, "and to
remedy that trouble was a tougher job than to
fall. Among the little group that heard this remark
was Henry K. Morton, a sailmaker of Bright-
on, Mass.

After a pause, as though his mind were with
"the mast," he said: "They do fall, often-
er than we hear of. To dark stormy nights, when
the ship is jumping from wave to wave, and the
leeward yardarms almost touch the water, and
the work aloft has to be done by feeling and instinct, even the best hands sometimes lose their
grip, and either tumble on the deck to be
crushed or into the sea to be drowned."

"I don't," murmured an old tar, lighting his
pipe with a coal from the stove: "I've known
of it, but I never saw it. I lost shipped forty years ago."